The HOT SPOT of NOAC

By Thomas Eliopoulos II

If you're one of those Arrowmen walking around unsure of where you should go-the camping and high adventure committee has the solution for you. Filled with fun, excitement, and challenges to keep you busy, the Camping and High Adventure areas are happening places. There are a multitude of program areas for you to explore including a 'Camp Chef' booth where cooking demonstrations run nonstop and the food is free.

This and other awesome events are included throughout the T.O.A.P. (Total Outdoor Adventure Place) course. The first area you'll see when you enter the course is called the Disabilities Awareness Challenge. This is composed of six areas intended to mimic common ways in which people with special needs are challenged everyday. They simulate a blind person going through a maze, playing volleyball with only one arm, an obstacle course on crutches, and blind-folded softball. The other two stations deal with sign language and the challenge of dyslexia. The great thing about the Disabilities Awareness program is that it allows us a small glimpse into the hardships that people with special needs face day in and day out. Everyone who participates in all six segments will receive a shiny, gold-colored hat pin.

The next thrilling area you can find within the T.O.A.P. course is called

By Lee Dennis

A.S.K. (Arrowmen Sharing Knowledge). Yes...another abbreviation for you to remember. The A.S.K. section includes a monkey bridge, a sky walk, and three types of climbing walls for you to enjoy.

The third and newest addition to the T.O.A.P. course is the high adventure area. Here you can test your marksmanship at the air rifle booth, participate in Leave No Trace instruction, and learn about canoe camping, and winter camping.

But wait, there's still more! The Camping and High Adventure people, under the direction of CVC Linley Collins, run some cool aquatics programs as well. Kayaking instruction and classes go on in the mornings at the Royar Diving Well, and free kayaking is available in the afternoons. Scuba diving is the other high adventure program offered, which is located at the HPER building in the pool.

A number of classes are offered too, including the very popular Wilderness Medicine class that teaches skills and techniques of surviving in the wilderness using only the resources available in the natural world. Another class, Small Shiny Objects for the Mind, shows off the latest outdoor equipment and explains how they are used.

New today is the Camping and High Adventure Expo, located in the Tennis Pavilion, which features some of the top vendors of outdoor equipment in the world. Special seminars will be offered on how to use their products as well. With tons of booths to see, many raffles, and free give-aways it is definitely a place that you will want to visit today and over the next few days.

Camping Expo Comes To NOAC!

By Richard Bright

Throughout the week there will be many exciting events that you can participate in, and the Camping and High Adventure committee is proud to be sponsoring two of these events. The first is the Camping Expo to be held today, tomorrow, and Wednesday between the hours of 9:00am and 5:00pm. This event is designed to be an information gathering tool for Arrowmen who wish to learn about all the new camping gear on the market. With more than thirty vendors showing their latest gear, the event should be a very exciting one, not to mention that you have the opportunity to get FREE stuff and a chance to win even more FREE stuff. All Arrowmen were given a coupon book that has coupons for raffles as well as FREE stuff that is given to you just for looking at the booth. This is an excellent event and this reporter encourages all to attend.

The vendors have partnered with the Camping Promotion committee and are prepared to offer discounts for the merchandise as well as demos and seminars on everything from using a compass to sleeping bag 101. With this event you can learn how to camp more efficiently and maybe even some key points on the entire Boy Scout experience. The event's purpose is to give good information as well as being a fun experience here at NOAC.

The event is also a good opportunity to work with some of the bigger names in camping and possibly set up discounts for you and your lodge (the key is to schmooze whenever possible, hint hint). This reporter was impressed with the leadership of this committee and was able to talk with twenty one, year, old Eagle Scout Bobby Brock about the Expo.

“Camping is a very integral part of all Scouting life.”

He feels that the event could be used to help the younger and less experienced Scouts out because all the gear is at one location and there are experts on hand to answer any and all questions. He hopes that at least a few people will learn something that they didn't know before the Expo and maybe even walk away with a special free gift from one of the vendors.

“Camping is a very integral part of all Scouting life. To be a true Arrowman you must show what the OA is about and, in order to do the best you can, you must put a hundred and ten percent into what you do. Remember that your audience is usually a group of young teenagers, so don't talk down to them; make an effort to talk at their level. A little kindness is worth its weight in gold (or in our case new Arrowmen),” states Richard Bright.

Jacob Tusing from Kiskakon 75 visits the expo

The second event is the Camping Extravaganza to be held from 1:00 pm to 5:00 pm on Tuesday, July 30th. This event is your lodge's chance to show off their stuff. All lodges can have their camping promotion booth on display. This event does count towards the Brotherhood Award and will be an excellent event for all to attend. This event is set up as an educational experience that will help all lodges in creating a booth that they can take to their local camporees as well as their section conclaves. The judges will be looking at the information that is offered as well as the creative way that it is displayed.

“A true camping promotion is a series of visits that ensure a unit is camping as well as learning about the outdoors.”

Awards will be given for first, second, and third places as well as the overall best-in-show (AKA most extravagant). I encourage all to attend this wonderful event.

With over 7,000 Scouts representing over two hundred lodges from around the nation, the promotion extravaganza should be one of the biggest events of the week. Hopefully there will be something from every lodge that your contingent will see and use to make your own booth better. Also if your lodge does not have a booth, this is a prime opportunity to learn and to see.

“A true camping promotion is a series of visits that ensure a unit is camping as well as learning about the outdoors. It's about personal experience and making a commitment to the promotion of all camping. If you are looking for a 9-5 job, then this is the wrong committee for you. The most important thing is to be excited about what you are doing and let that excitement flow through you. That is the only way that a unit promotion team will be successful,” states Bobby Brock.

Discovering the Order of Old

By Jeff Barraclough

This year's OA Museum at NOAC is located on the ground floor of the McNutt Quadrangle (in the Flame Room). It is approximately 6,000 square feet (twice the size of the museum at the last NOAC) and has an unbelievable assortment of OA memorabilia that will provide an unforgettable experience.

The museum has displays from about 30 lodges from across the country, that are participating in the first NOAC OA museum display competition and evaluation. Regional and national awards will be presented based on standardized criteria such as historical value, visual presentation and youth participation in putting the display together. In addition, there are at least another 20 displays of complete or almost complete collections of lodge memorabilia being entered by individuals.

Exhibits include a display of OA sashes from throughout the history of the Order, some of E. Urner Goodman's memorabilia, old Scouting uniforms, the National Chief's & Vice-Chief's Indian headdresses, a Scouting "During the War" display, displays from the Northstar Scouting museum and the Las Vegas International Scouting Museum, an Eagle Scout badge display, a display on Troop 1 in New York (the oldest chartered troop in the US), Highest Ranks from foreign countries display, a History of the OA Timeline through OA Memorabilia, a display of "Vintage OA" memorabilia, a display of OA Sateens & Chenilles, an almost complete CSP collection and an almost complete OA lodge name and number collection, and more.

In addition to all these displays, this year's museum will have two other sections that will be more interactive. First, the museum has a preservation section in which staff and volunteers will be digitally archiving and preserving historical documents, memorabilia, paperwork, pictures, etc. that have historical significance to the OA. Ken Davis, a member of the OA National Committee, used

by Michael Arnold

some of this material when he wrote the "History of the Order of the Arrow."

The museum will also be presenting a re-creation of the original ceremony from 1915. Unami lodge #1 has created a slide presentation of the ceremony and pictures from the actual locations on Treasure Island. There will be a video presentation (created by Tipisa lodge #326) as well as live presentations of the ceremony in full costume about every hour by volunteer lodges.

The Museum will be open Monday from 1:30 p.m. - 5:00 p.m., Tuesday from 1:30 p.m. - 4:00 p.m. and Wednesday from 10:00 a.m. - 4:00 p.m.

Stop by the OA Museum for an unforgettable experience, and don't forget to pick up your special gift souvenir. In addition, Arrowmen can bring a Lodge flap and donate it to the museum's display.

Very Important Arrowmen

By Brian Bridgers

The NOAC 2002 Special Events Committee is pleased to offer an event to recognize Very Important Arrowmen (VIA) through a special meal program. The purpose of this event is to give youth Arrowmen the opportunity to meet and speak with national officers and other dignitaries.

This NOAC's VIA luncheon will have a new twist with a "mocktail" reception that will be the perfect setting for Arrowmen from across the nation to interact with national officers and members of the national committee, as well as other Arrowmen. Three VIA luncheons are scheduled throughout the conference on Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday. Along with great food, the occasion will have great speakers. Participants will also receive the first baseball card of the National Chief and National Vice Chief and a special gift.

Each lodge received two invitations at registration for the VIA luncheon. The contingent leader should distribute those to the newest youth Arrowman attending with his lodge and the Lodge Chief. If the Lodge Chief is not in attendance, another officer should receive the invitation. Invitations are required for attendance and Arrowmen must attend at the time printed on the invitation.

NOAC Shuttle to Indianapolis Airport

Please be advised that all lodge and staff requests for the "NOAC SHUTTLE" to Indianapolis Airport will only be offered on August 1, 2002.

We have confirmed all lodge accommodations. If a staff member needs to make any last minute changes - please advise the Transportation Committee in the Georgian Room 161 in the IMU - or call us at extension 5-5320 by 12:00 noon today.

The buses will be filled with lodges and staff in the order that is required by your departure flight times. You should plan on being ready to leave four (4) hours before. We will not allow any groups that have a later flight time to "jump" the buses earlier in the day. Please plan on additional time to get to the pick up points via the internal buses or walking, as required.

We will have two (2) pick up points to load the "Star of Indiana" buses. One on each end of the campus and will publicize the final selection on Wednesday in the NOAC staff news and the NOAC newspaper along with your assigned departure time.

Congratulations "Where is It?" Winners!

What is the Lifetime Achievement Award?

By Joel Bonner, III

Saturday night, during the opening show, the first ever Lifetime Achievement Award was awarded to Tom McBride for his "legacy of servant leadership." The presentation was accompanied by a long list of dedicated service unselfishly given over the past 60 years by Tom McBride, "the senior and most respected member of the national committee." The Lifetime Achievement Award was conceived with this level of commitment in mind.

The Lifetime Achievement Award was created in the spring of 2002 by the National Committee to recognize the second generation of Arrowmen – the generation who took the torch from the founders themselves and have dedicated their entire lives to the OA. In order to merit the award, one must have had significant involvement on the National level. One must have been integral in shaping the direction of the Order, have shown significant support for youth leadership, and been faithfully dedicated to the program. Those who leave this legacy of service and leadership are then nominated by the National Committee and, finally, approved to receive this great recognition.

Only a very limited number of the Lifetime Achievement Awards are expected to be presented in the next few years, emphasizing the high level of commitment and service being honored by the Lifetime Achievement Award. In the words of the National Chairman, Brad Haddock, "We wanted to honor those who are always there, so much so that sometimes we tend to take them for granted. It's kind of like driving past the same place all the time, and then noticing one day that the big oak tree is no longer there. All of a sudden the shade it provided is missing. We want to honor those faithful leaders who have been humbly and quietly serving behind the scenes before they were gone."

McBride and son, James, with Dr. E. Urner Goodman

Where Are They Now?

Don Cunningham

You may remember Don Cunningham as the National Chief for the 2001 year. A proud resident of Harrisburg, Pa and card carrying member of Sus Que Ha Nock Lodge #90. Although he did not get to be chief for a NOAC, he has played a vital role in the Order and is assisting the National Council of Chiefs for the 2002 NOAC.

Don is majoring in Finance with a minor in Political Science at West Chester University in Philadelphia, PA. He is a member of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity where he is the Public Relations Director as well as the Fundraising Chair.

Currently, Don is working at the Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Agency, a loan consulting firm that helps default prevention. He plans to continue on the graduate school and then a career as a stock broker with an investment firm.

Man on the Street Asks: What Do You Want to Get Out of Training?

By Bill Hein

Todd Laskutoff of Ajapeu Lodge 351: There are a lot of youth that can't get to NOAC, so we are their representatives to go to these classes and get the information to relay back to them.

By Bill Hein

Joe Lint of Menawnaihella Lodge 550: I want to get knowledge to take back to my Lodge to improve it. Right now, we're pretty small, but with this training we can improve and grow.

National Recognition Awards

In 1940, the Distinguished Service Award was created to honor those who render service to the Order beyond the lodge level. The award is presented to those Arrowmen who have rendered distinguished and outstanding service to the Order on a sectional, area, regional, or national basis. It is given primarily for dedicated service to the Order and Scouting over a period of years.

The first awards were presented at Camp Twin Echo, Pennsylvania, to Dr. E. Urner Goodman, Col. Carroll A. Edson and eight others at the 1940 National Meeting. Between 1940 and the first National Conference in 1948, the award was presented at National Meetings as deserving individuals were found. Thereafter, the award presentation became a traditional part of the pageantry and ceremony of the National Conference.

Since the time of the first awards in 1940, approximately 700 Distinguished Service Awards have been presented. This alone is a testament to its high standard of excellence. The award is a sterling silver arrowhead, bearing an arrow pointing upward and to the wearer's right, suspended from a white neck-ribbon upon which are embroidered red arrows. A white square knot embroidered upon red cloth also is available for uniform wear.

Presentation of the award is limited. Arrowmen whose service records are the most outstanding and extend farthest beyond others in the local lodge are usually selected. Nominations are open to both youth and adult Arrowmen.

Another National Recognition is the Red Arrow Award – presented by the National Order of the Arrow Committee for distinguished service to the Order by either non-Scouters or Scouters who are not members of the Order. This service may take many forms and should involve a significant period of time, as opposed to a single event. A limited number of awards are presented to those whose accomplishments are of the highest order.

Fun Fellowship and Fitness: Competing to Be the Best at NOAC 2002

By Sven Gilkey

The Order of the Arrow was founded in 1915 to create something new and exciting to be added to the Treasure Island camp program. Today, in 2002, Arrowmen are trying to find new ways to get other arrowmen interested and help them have fun at NOAC. One of the answers to this search is the Competitions and Recreation Committee.

The group of youth and advisers that make up the Competitions and Recreations Committee have a very simple idea. Craig Tuttle and his team in December were given the task of fostering fun, fellowship, and fitness for their fellow Arrowmen. To fulfill this mission, the team has put together a series of programs including lodge sport competitions and the Grand Hodag.

For the most part, the events are straight forward. I mean who doesn't know what basketball is? But who or what is the Grand Hodag? And what is Goodman-opoly? Well, Goodman-opoly was a game, that took place on Saturday, in which Arrowmen made up teams of 3-4 and played a GIANT game of Monopoly, OA style.

Have you ever watched Battlestar Galactica? Does OA Battlestar have anything to do with it? Well, I have seen the movie and sadly the game does not have anything to do with this great flick. BUT, this event is a game to remember. Lodges submit teams of 3 (there is no limit to the number of teams from a lodge) that battle together to find who, at NOAC, is all-knowing about the Order. The team must decide who is bluffing and who speaks the truth. OA Battlestars will be a fierce tournament in search of those brothers who are the strongest Battlestars.

And the checkered flag names the winner of the greatest race of all time, the GOODMAN 500! In the search for someone to announce the Goodman 500, your Competitions and Recreations Committee has brought Paul Page, the announcer from the Indianapolis 500. What is this great event that you keep hearing about? Why, it is the king of all Pinewood Derbies. For those of you that were Cub Scouts, think back and remember racing wooden cars, but now it is Arrowmen-style.

With all the events being put on, what is the crown jewel for the Competitions and Recreation Committee? It is the Grand Hodag, which is an event, not a person. The Grand Hodag is NOAC's party of parties. It includes music, food and just a great time for all the Arrowmen. The Tripping Billies will provide music for this great party. I'm sorry but I can't say any more without fear of being hunted down. All I can say of this event is that it will be THE PLACE TO BE Tuesday night for a party that will rock the world because the Order of the Arrow is in the house!

Philmont OA Trail Crew

By Thomas Eliopoulos II

Paul Boyd, 16, of Shawnee Lodge #51 recently participated in the OA Trail Crew at Philmont Scout Ranch, and when asked about the trip he could only describe it as the “experience of a lifetime.”

Paul flew into New Mexico alone and joined up with some of his crew in Albuquerque. They took a shuttle to Philmont and began to get acquainted with one another. Four staff guides at Philmont, called foremen, lead the crew in their adventures throughout this two-week program.

The first week, Paul’s crew spent its time widening and repairing a trail in the southern portion of Philmont.

“The unique thing about it,” says Paul, “is that you never know what time it is since they took all our watches away on the first day.”

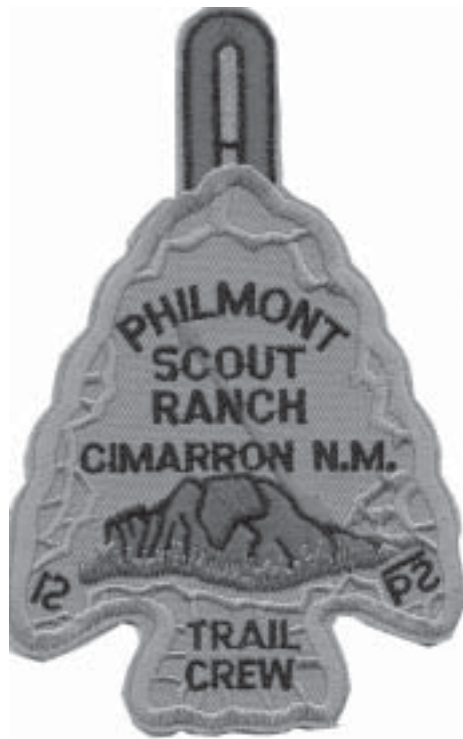

Each day of their first week they worked in the mornings, took a break for lunch, and returned to work for a little while in the afternoon. After the day’s work, the crew would return to old Abreu Camp, which served as their base for the week.

After dinner each night, Paul and his crew were able to sit back, relax, and enjoy the ambiance of Philmont. And as the sun was setting, the entire crew would sit in a circle and participate in an activity known as ‘thorns and roses,’ something familiar to anyone who has been on the trail at Philmont. This was where the Arrowmen would take turns telling what difficulties or problems they encountered that day (thorns), and then they shared some of the good things that happened (roses).

For the second week, the crew split up into two groups and each chose a separate trail to hike. Paul especially enjoyed this part because he was able to hike through many beautiful areas and visit some cool places along the way. OA Trail Crew is one of those great programs that can bring a group of strangers to be such good friends that they feel they have known each other for years. Paul was lucky enough to experience this firsthand.

More information about the OA Trail Crew can be found on the official Order of the Arrow website, www.oa-bsa.org.

Attention Lodges

The following lodges did not pick up their Special Events packets during registration on Saturday: 4, 11, 24, 30, 46, 75, 111, 129, 199, 226, 229, 309, 327, 351, 355, 360, 481, 502, 506, 589. These lodges need to report immediately to the Special Events office in the basement of McNutt Quadrangle to receive their VIA luncheon invitations, register for the NOAC Wide Game, and pick up their invitation to the Professional Scouters dinner.

Northern Tier

Tim Rhodes

Northern Tier High Adventure Base, a series of 3 different bases extending from Ely, Minnesota, all the way to Bissett, Canada, is where youth from across the US and Canada go to explore the most primitive and popular of the Two Nations National Parks. However, Northern Tier is sometimes overlooked when it comes to High Adventure Bases. Unlike other High Adventure Bases, Northern Tier is truly a primitive outdoor experience, where Scouts can travel into areas only reachable by canoe or float plane. When people go to Northern Tier they are often amazed by how untouched nature can be and by its raw beauty, which creates memories that will last forever. These memories compete with those from Philmont or National Jamboree or NOAC 2002. As Arrowmen we have a unique opportunity to travel these waters through the OA Wilderness Voyage, a program often confused with OA Trail Crew at Philmont. Though the programs share the same basic format, the Voyage program is thought by some to be the most intense High Adventure experience that the Boy Scouts of America has to offer. Here, we as Arrowmen have the chance to spend 13 continuous days in some of the only truly wild lands left in North America. For the first 7 days, Arrowmen provide service in conjunction with the US Forest Service to apply modern trail techniques to the 70-year-old historical portage trails. Then the rest of the time is spent traveling the boundary waters canoe area on a route selected by the crew, which is accompanied on this voyage by two Voyage Foremen, who are experienced Arrowmen. They accompany the crew to teach trail building techniques and serve as guides on the water. The length of the voyage allows the crew to grow as a group of leaders and friends and provides Arrowmen with the opportunity to learn more about themselves than they ever could when distracted by the constant bombardment of the outside world. As Alex Dria, a participant in 2001 said to his friends around the campfire on his last evening, “I thought I was looking forward to going back to the real world, but I guess I’m just going back to the fake one. This is the real world.” Other participants have commented that the stars, sunsets, and northern lights reflected in the mirror-like lakes in the evening are among some of the most beautiful things they have seen in their lives, sites unavailable on the top of a mountain or in the waves of the sea. A 2-year foreman of the program, when asked to describe the experience, said, “The OA Voyage program at Northern Tier is a completely different type of service experience that extends far beyond the week of portage trail work. Crossing between lakes and the century-old trails with a canoe or gear pack creates a bond that’s tighter than any other. For nowhere else do you have as great an opportunity to triumph over your imaginary limitations while carrying the burdens of your friends and brothers squarely on your shoulders.”

Overseas Arrowman Association (OAA) Reunion

The OAA is an association of members who are or were members of any of the following lodges:

355, 482, 538, 557, 391, 498, 549, 562, 446, 506, 554, 565, 454, 523, 555, 567.

The OAA’s annual reunion will be held on Tuesday, July 30 in the Sassafras Room located in the Indiana Memorial Union. The reunion will be from 11:30 a.m. – 1:30 p.m.

Test Yourselves...and So Discover TOAP

By Michael Welch

Walking into a wonderful, colorful expanse of crafted walls, shiny new gear, and wonderful smells, I realize that this span of grass is the place to be. Located behind the Alumni Center, The Outdoor Adventure Place (TOAP) area features a climbing and bouldering wall, a kitchen facility, and a maze course, among others.

FORE!

On Monday at 1:00 p.m., the very first NOAC Golf Tournament will tee off at the Indiana University Golf Course. You need to be pre-registered in order to participate. Arrive at the course by 12:15 p.m. If you are in need of transportation, there will be a special shuttle bus available beginning at 11:45 a.m., that will travel the entire NOAC bus route to specifically pick up golfers. difficulty from hard to intermediate to beginner. The climbing wall, which reaches nearly 60 feet high, is off to the side of the bouldering wall. Using multiple ropes and routes a Scout could spend all day there and not repeat the same holds. With new ropes the climbing wall is safer than ever. These ropes are dynamic s, meaning they stretch, and new kernmantle technology means they won’t break.

Among other five-star diners the TOAP kitchen palace is the best; most of the day the TOAP kitchen will serve some delicious food, ranging from lasagna to tacos.

The Rat Maze is the next best thing to being home. After putting on thick, black goggles you are placed inside a maze. Using your foot or the stick you were given at the beginning of the course, you try to find your way out. After stumbling around for several minutes, I realized that if you just concentrated, you could use your foot and your stick and make it out of the maze in a jiffy.

The TOAP area is the place to be; if you do any two things this NOAC go to training and go to TOAP.

“Ahhh! I’ve got to try that again!” Exclaimed Scotty Johnson, from Te’kinneh lodge, “This is the best place to be, you can’t beat this!”
